Hodges celebrates 30 years of service

Rita Hodges, End User Support Manager for the Kansas Department of Transportation's Office of Information Technology Services, has achieved a career milestone and is celebrating 30 years of valued service in July to the State of Kansas.

Hodges started working for the state in 1985 at the Kansas Public Employees Retirement System. Three years later, she transferred to the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services. She joined KDOT in 2006 where she manages the Information Technology Service Desk, which provides support for desktops, software applications, phones and printers as well as help troubleshoot problems for end users.

She and her husband, Lance, have two children, Haley and Evan. They reside near Dover.
