KDOT annual report posted

The Kansas Department of Transportation's 2012 annual report has been posted on the agency's website.

The report focuses on the agency's Performance Measures program, which was enhanced in the past year through the hiring of a manager, a comprehensive review of the existing measures and programs in other states and more. The report links to the Performance Measures website, which provides an easy way for Kansans to track how KDOT is performing in six critical areas.

The report also provides a summary of the T-WORKS transportation program, including a listing of all announced projects, and highlights some of the awards and achievements of 2011.
